Progress Report - Text Classification

1. I have done more research and determined to use BERT (from Google) in order to complete my project. I have also done research on how to use BERT and some tutorials to familiarize myself with the libraries. I have also got my environment, libraries, and data set as needed and ran a short test to ensure I had everything.

2. The main pending task is the implementation of the coding and further documentation on my overall project.

3. The primary challenge was time. I have been busier than expected with my job the past couple weeks and haven't been able to really get to focus on the project. However, the next couple weeks I will be able to focus in and complete the project. I do feel like the implementation and producing a reasonable score will be the most difficult part. I am sure I will run into roadblocks during the coding.
